I tried what the other threads said, but didn't work. Talked to HP tech, here's what worked:

On laserjet 4250n:

Go to Configure device, system setup, ramdisk, set it to Off. Upgrade the firmware again. This removed the Resend Upgrade message. Turn the ramdisk back on.

Tech also said if it happens again, you can try point and print drivers located at <http://www.hp.com/pond/pnp>. He said the drivers are different than those on the CD and website. I didn't try them, but there are many models listed.
